NEVADA'S GOLD REVIVAL.

Our Barren Years are Over and Prosperity Dawns

An estimate gathered from the Wells & Fargo agencies and the Mint receipts show that the output of precious metals for the year will be in the neighborhood of four millions, which is half a million larger than the output for '94. Much of the output of Nevada's gold mines, is not recorded in this State, but goes to the Solby Smelting Works. Some is taken over the mountains by wagon transportation, and does not ever go through the express office.

The U. S. Mint at this city has always been in bad odor with depositors as they did not get the returns called for by their assays and for this reason a great deal of the gold output is sent to San Francisco and sold to private firms and cannot be computed for public information. The Mint investigations show that depositors have been systematically robbed and the mining men are watching the result of the investigation with great interest.

The recent gold discoveries at Buckeye and Pine Nut and Dayton promise to add many millions to the future gold output. The value of the Buckeye placers recently purchased by Lane and Hayward is estimated at nearly one hundred million.

The Pine Nut ledges and placers in the vicinity of the Zim find is estimated at seventy-five million and the Le Grand Ore placers, between Silver City and Dayton is fixed by practical placer miners as worth two hundred million. This means a magnificent gold mining revival in this State which will give Nevada more solid prosperity during the year 1896 than it has had for the past ten years.

Louis James as "Macbeth."

There was a large audience at the Opera House last evening to witness Louis James as "Macbeth."

Mr. James, more than any other actor on the American stage, possesses personal features for these heroic characters, which are only found in tragic drama.

Especially interest is now being felt in this play on account of the prominence which Henry Irving's recent productions has brought it into. Irving takes the bold and original idea that Macbeth was not dominated by his wife, that the idea of Duncan's murder was not hers, but his, and he was the planning and moving spirit. The critics have all disagreed with this conception, and in so doing have sustained Mr. James in his idea of it. They all agree that Mr. James' conception is the correct one. It is the woman who makes the first proposition of the murder and henceforward it is impossible to see how the roll can be played so as to convey the fact that Macbeth was not controlled by the intellect of his wife. In his meeting with the three witches Mr. James is the embodiment of superstitious imagination, and his terror and remorse at the sight of the blood stained ghost of Banquo is shown with naturalness and great strength.

MARRIED.

In this city December 31st, at the residence of the bride's parents, Miss Vernie Bright and Joseph Muller. Rev. Geo. R. Davis officiating. The groom is a Carson born and raised young man who has a large circle of friends who have been congratulating him for a month past on his good fortune. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Bright, and like the groom is one of Carson's own. The good wishes of both their friends have been shown by the number of valuable and beautiful presents received by them. They will reside in this city where they have fitted up a cozy little home in the northern part of the city. The APPEAL is only one among the friends that extend them good wishes and congratulations.

Excitement in Pine Nut.

News came in yesterday that there had been a fresh strike at Pine Nut bigger than ever before. Men are flocking in from Genoa and Gardnerville with arms, and trouble was expected when the clock struck midnight for January 1st, '96. Word came into Carson yesterday to send out more arms and ammunition and quite a lot of these sort of supplies went to the front last night.

THE MOST POPULAR MAN IN CARSON.

Cut this out and leave it at the Cohn's store, after writing the name of your favorite on the blank space.

Carson's Bad Name.

Charles Bowers, the horse trainer, invited Billy Silcox to the Carson race track to sleep with him. During the night he swears that Silcox tapped him for $45 and he had him arrested. Stealing seems to be epidemic at the Capital and the Board of Health should use its authorities to suppress it.—Journal.

W. W. Lenn of Wells, Elko county, arose from his bed, while his attendant was after a physician, dressed himself and started for the sagebrush. The Independent says as soon as he was missed several persons started out to find him. He was seen about a mile from the house making for the hills. He saw the men approaching and when they were near him he stopped, opened his vest and plunged his pocket knife into his heart, killing himself. He was a native of California, 25 years of age, and was discharged by the railroad company recently when the force was reduced.

W. H. Downing has been arrested at Lovelocks by Deputy Marshal Ferguson and taken before United States Commissioner Archer at Winnemucca on a charge of sending obscene matter through the mails. He mailed a letter to E. W. Sommer of St. Clair, Churchill county, in which he called him a "detestable murderer," and also wrote abusive and libelous letters to H. W. Fuss of Lovelocks.

CHEAP CUSTOM WORK A DECEPTION.

A style of tailoring is rapidly gaining headway which is but an imposition upon the consumer and a detriment to the workman. The cheap custom work or what is called "special order work," is a shrewd dodge for the purpose of deceiving the customer into the belief that he is obtaining custom work at ready made prices. The real worth of custom work lies in the exactness of the fit, and the thoroughness in which it is made. Cheap custom work is therefore inferior to ready made work.

Large concerns, some also engaged in ready made work have grown up of late and depend for patronage upon retail stores, and have numerous agents scattered everywhere soliciting orders and gain trade because of the strikingly cheap prices offered for goods made to order. As a rule these agents seldom obtain an order twice from the same person.

It is about time that this scheme was exposed to the people and ABE COHN of the EMPORIUM shows up the fraud. If you want clothes that fit and are tried on as often as is necessary call at the EMPORIUM Court House Building, Carson City, Nevada.
